Weather Key Points

Regional Operations Center

Western Region

Tuesday, September 20

- Widespread light to moderate rainfall is expected for northern and central California through Wednesday
 - The rainfall will primarily be beneficial for the state. However, isolated burn scar impacts are possible as the chance of thunderstorms continues through Tuesday.
 - Primary burn scar area of concern is for the Mosquito fire, mainly due to an increased chance of thunderstorms and the steep terrain.
 - Ash flow is possible during periods of heavier rain for the August, McFarland, Dixie, Sheep, and Walker burn scars
 - Some light snow is also possible above about 8500 feet above sea level over the high Sierra through Wednesday, though no significant accumulation is expected at this time
- Drier and warmer weather will develop for much of the state for Thursday through Saturday
- Gusty winds up to 45 mph are expected across the deserts and mountains of southern California through Wednesday.
